Down Under Berlin launches photo competition

01.08.2014 – The Australian Film Festival has joined with travel comparison website GoEuro to host the Europe-wide photo competition, “Photos of Down Under”. Launching today, the competition asks participants to upload an image which epitomises Australia in order to win the major prize: two full festival passes to the festival as well as transport to Berlin for any winners in Europe. The competition will run until August 21 and capitalises on increasing interest in the festival, which will see its fourth installment at renowned Moviemento cinema in Berlin from September 11-14, 2014.

To enter, participants need to upload their image to GoEuro`s Facebook page: www.facebook.com/GoEuro or tweet their image with the #PhotosOfDownUnder + @GoEuro and @DownUnderFest to www.twitter.com/GoEuro.

About Down Under Berlin

Down Under Berlin was established in 2011 in Berlin Kreuzberg and has developed into the largest film festival in Europe dedicated to Australian and New Zealand film. As such it provides not only a window to Australian storytelling, cinematography and stories but also a platform for filmmakers from Down Under who want to present their work to German audiences. The festival showcases a wide range of films including Indigenous cinema, short films, documentaries, experimental and feature films.

About GoEuro

GoEuro is a travel search website that allows users to compare and combine air, rail and coach transport across Europe. The platform revolutionises the travel planning experience, providing customers with more choice, transparent pricing, travel times and easier booking. GoEuro eliminates the need to visit multiple websites to plan an entire trip. More info at www.goeuro.com
